

Gradient models adjust for cancer history and the common covariate set; burden categories are not pooled across cohorts.